Learn from the Masters develops your ability to write/compose and arrange music through the study of the great masters. The book contains excellent educational material on music theory, and presents a new way of methodical thinking. Besides arranging for two to five parts and writing simple counterpoint, you will learn to compose melodies. Plenty of music examples from the works of the great masters, and exercises with a direct focus on how to write small arrangements for everyday use, make the book a unique study material. Learn from the Masters also contains an instructive chapter on score and part notation, instrumental range and technical difficulties. A DVD-rom containing a workbook 95 pages and 155 music examples is included.
