The Colored Patriots of the American Revolution: Do Black Lives Matter? William Cooper Nell

"Their bones whiten every stricken field of the Revolution; their feet tracked with blood the snows of Jersey; their toil built up every fortification south of the Potomac; they shared the famine and nakedness of Valley Forge, and the pestilential horrors of the old Jersey prison ship. Have we, then, no claim to an equal participation in the blessings which have 'grown out of the national independence,' which we fought to establish? Is it right, is it just, is it generous, is it magnanimous, to withhold from us these blessings and 'starve our patriotism'?"

"Colored Patriots of the American Revolution," is William Cooper Nell's magnum opus, a powerful heart wrenching documentary about the black Americans who fought during the Revolutionary War. Two centuries later, a question linger in our hearts, why these brave men and women are still forgotten today?
