Community One is a government experiment.

The purpose of which is to produce genetically-enhanced super athletes for the Prominence Baseball League. From the outside looking in, it should be obvious that the residents of this community are slaves to their sport. Everyone remains captive from birth until death unless they can advance through the levels of play and be selected for the Prominence League.

However, what the youth of Community One do not realize is that once in the Prominence League, life can be much worse. When Carriane and Caleb start to question their leaders and realize all is not what it seems, the sparks of a revolution begin. It is a revolution that connects heroes both young and old in an adventure of love, sacrifice, and baseball.
