This is a no-holds-barred how-to guide for publishing erotica.

Many authors feel they have reached a “wall” when self-publishing erotica. This guide aims to help those authors break past their wall and look at things in a new light with concepts, step by step instructions and professional advice from an already successful author.

This is not a guide for beginners, but for authors that wish to further increase the value of their stories beyond simply just publishing more. This guide will teach you the approximate amount you should be earning with your current catalog and breaking past that maximum amount. This guide assumes you have already read Publishing Erotica: How to Make Your First $1,000 which focuses upon creating a successful foundation for your catalog. From here, I'll teach you how turn that $1,000/month catalog into a $10,000/month catalog!

“The breaking point is a common issue that frustrates authors even though they are doing everything correctly!”

I also have created a story with my tactics in place so you may see my style. The critique will cover all aspects of the process including keywords and categories used!
